Dear Friends in Jesus Christ,

Last weekend after having explained to us the risk involved in being a messenger of Christ through the teachings of St. Paul and the experience of Jesus' rejection by His own people and country, today we are all invited to get leave our comfort zone and begin our mission as a true Christian. Today, Jesus is releasing the rules and regulations or the preparations one has to make for an effective missionary work. Yes, the preparation list from Jesus looks to be very simple, but to practice these instructions, one needs to be humble.

Jesus always preached from His personal experience and convictions so they appear to be very attractive and soothing to our ears and hearts, but to get them into our flesh and bones is really hard. It is here a Christian is different from Christ. So Jesus says, "Learn from me for I am meek and humble in heart" (Mt.11:29). Yes, to be like Jesus, we need to be meek and humble in heart, and only then will we be able to follow the instructions Jesus designed for a missionary work towards the establishment of the Kingdom of God here on earth. He instructed them to take nothing for their journey but a walking stick. No food, no sack and no money in their belts. They were, however, to wear sandals but not a second tunic. Wherever you enter a house, stay there until you leave. Whatever place does not welcome you or listen to you, leave there and shake off the dust off your feet in testimony against them. Yes, the disciples followed the instructions given by Jesus, and the Gospel of today ends witnessing the missionary work of disciples as a successful one.

By presenting well defined instructions for successful missionary work, Jesus does not mean that it has to be followed as it is. The main message He wants to give us is to TRUST in Him completely more than anything in this world. Yes, a pure trust in Him will reduce our thirst for worldly pleasures and will create better results in our missionary work and will also enhance the quality of our Christian lives. Look at the lives of saints, they could become more effective missionaries through their simple life style through which they could influence many people in their locality. Look at the life of Saint Francis Assisi. He was a rich man, but when he realizes that all his richness is a stumbling block to preach the Good News, he abandons all possessions and becomes the poorest of the poor. Thus he became the second Christ.

The recent study in our country shows that during last year, a great number of people converted from believers to nonbelievers, and out of this, ninety-nine percentage of these people have fallen away from non-Christian denominations. Catholics have managed to remain steady by the influence made by Pope Francis among the people all over the world through his simple life style and effective preaching. Yes, it is a proud moment for each of us as Christians. At the same time, it is a wake up call and reminder for each one of us that the instructions given by Jesus in today's Gospel are not outdated, but still relevant today and tomorrow for an effective missionary work.

Holy Mother Church, by its nature, is a missionary, and every Christian is a missionary in this world. Our mission is a never ending journey, so during this missionary journey let us follow the examples of the Saints who followed the instructions of Jesus in today's Gospel. Thus, be an effective and faithful missionary for Christ in this broken world.
