“The Lord is my Shepherd there is nothing I shall want”

Dear Friends in Jesus Christ,

Last week’s Gospel ended with Jesus sending His apostles to preach the Good News of repentance, drive out demons and heal the sick by placing their complete trust in Him rather than worldly things. In today’s Gospel, we see the apostles are returning back after their missionary work to report to Jesus about their mission work. Yes, a time for evaluation of the mission work and get more guidance from Jesus to continue the mission more meaningfully and effectively. The Gospel states that the apostles did not have much time for that because the people were just after them to listen to their preaching for they were like a sheep without a shepherd.

In the first reading from the book of prophet Jeremiah, we hear God’s disappointment with the shepherds of His flock. At that time in Israel and in the neighboring nations, the kings were often called shepherds because they had a duty to look after the whole well being of the people. Thus, the kings were expected to act on behalf of God towards His people. Unfortunately, only a small number of the kings in Israel had true faith in God and ruled according to the will of God and other kings really messed up the lives of the people of that time. So at the end of the first reading, we see that God is promising to raise up a wise and honest king for them.

When we come to the second reading, we see the character of a true and good shepherd is being explained by St. Paul in his letter to the Ephesians. Yes, a true and good shepherd is the advocate of peace. When we come to the Gospel reading, we see in Jesus the promise of God in the first reading and the character of a true and a good shepherd explained in the second reading are meeting together. Yes, Jesus is the Good shepherd who gives everlasting peace to anyone who approaches Him with a contrite heart.

Yes, it is easy to sing and speak out, “The Lord is my shepherd”, but in our real life do we live as Jesus is our shepherd? Do we get guidance from Him in our troubles and problems? Do we spend quality of time to listen to Him and be with Him? Yes, in every Eucharistic celebration we proclaim that “The Lord is my shepherd”, and it is the same message we are called to share with everyone outside the Mass or church. Remember every one of us are called and sent out in the Eucharist to be a good shepherd. Are you a good shepherd in your own circle? Jesus says, “I am the Good Shepherd”, when will you and I be able to say the same statement sincerely, “I am the Good shepherd. The Good shepherd lays down his life for his sheep”. Let us ask the for grace to be a good shepherd of Justice, peace and Love. God Bless you all.
