Dear Friends in Jesus Christ,

When a female teacher became engaged, one of her more experienced co-workers decided to give her some good advice. "Just remember", she said, "the first ten years of marriage are the hardest." The younger teacher asked her co-worker how long she had been married. "Ten years," she answered.

Yes, as human beings every one of us will have some complaints about others, and no doubt, all the complaints are the results of broken love. Today, Jesus directs our attention to the most important commandment of all time; "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind, and you shall love your neighbor as yourself". Yes, this is the basis of all the religions and the basis of happy human living. As we sincerely reflect about this greatest commandment, there is no doubt most of us have broken both of these relationships. Relationship with God and with our neighbor, and thereby complaints after complaints instead of compliments.

Once a king decided to know the well being of his people personally, so he put on a different costume and went to different streets socializing with people and nobody recognized him as their king. Around noon, as he was walking on the street, he noticed an old man planting apple trees on both sides of the street. The king went to this old man and asked him, "What are you doing in this scorching sun?" The old man replied, "I am planting some apple trees". The king asked, "Do you ever think you will be able to eat an apple from one of these trees before you die?" The old man replied, "the fruits that I eat today are not the fruit of my labor, but of my parents and grand parents. Now I do this for the next generation, for their well being." The king was so happy about the old man he took him to his palace and presented him with a box full of gold coins.

Yes, when it comes to the issue of love, every one thinks about what others are not doing for me, but the Gospel of today teaches that instead of asking for love from someone, the act of love should begin from oneself and that is why Jesus says, "love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind, and you shall love your neighbor as yourself". Yes, a dedicated effort is demanded from each one of us in the act of love. With all your heart, means with whole love. With all your soul, means with whole life in its fullness. With all your mind, means with all that we have. Yes, the entire life should be dedicated to love and that is Jesus. This is the greatest testimony the Bible states about Jesus in Acts 10:38, "He went about doing good." Yes, Jesus was the perfect example of perfect love from birth to death and through resurrection till this moment, and every one of us is invited for this perfect love. Can we do that love in our lives? If Jesus could, surely we can!

To attain this perfect love in our lives, we need the support of two other Christian virtues in our lives, Faith and Hope, because it is the Faith in God and Hope in His promises that strengthens us in the love of God. They are essential for a good relationship with God and with our neighbor. The more we know God, the more we love Him, the more we love Him, the greater we believe and hope in His promise. So let us ask for the grace to love God and others than being loved. The love that can control all feelings, thoughts and action of our lives so that one day somebody will say about you and I, he/she went about doing good.
